

TRAIN IN PSYCHOANALYTIC PSYCHOTHERAPY

Learn to understand and interpret the emerging emotional relationship between patient and psychotherapist.

Psychoanalytic psychotherapy discovers, explores and modifies unconscious influences that shape who one is and how one relates.

The Victorian Association of Psychoanalytic Psychotherapists is accepting expressions of interest for its next professional training course commencing in July 2019.

The course is open to graduates of relevant allied health disciplines with clinical experience.

Training comprises generally four years of twice-weekly seminars concurrent with personal analysis or psychoanalytic psychotherapy and supervision of two cases.

Graduates of the course apply for membership of the VAPP as psychoanalytic psychotherapists for adults.
